

Parody of "Times Like These" by Foo Fighters

I, see the headlines everyday
People sinning every way
Then make that sin their cause
I, see the constant fighting
Every man thinks he's the light
He gives no thought to God
Ah-ah-ahh
It's times like these this world is not your friend
It's times like these you turn away from men
It's times like these you mourn for all your sin
It's times like these you obey and repent
I, see the Lord's day rising
Coming through the sky
To set this crooked world aright
Sheep, from the goats divided
Nowhere to run away
To hide you from His sight
Ah-ah-ahh
It's times like these this world is not your friend
It's times like these you turn away from men
It's times like these you mourn for all your sin
It's times like these you obey and repent
It's times like these this world is not your friend
It's times like these you turn away from men
It's times like these you mourn for all your sin
It's times like these you obey and repent
It's times like these the Devil's lies will end
It's times like these that Christ will come again
It's times like these We'll see Him as our friend
It's times like these His kingdom will begin
It's times like these the Devil's lies will end
It's times like these that Christ will come again
It's times like these We'll see Him as our friend
It's times like these His kingdom will begin
